Ophthalmology department,
Arendal

Looking for a new work opportunity? Expand your knowledge and experience? Come join us and get excited.

Our Ophthalmology department is situated on the Southeast coast of Norway in the city of Arendal. Arendal's history dates back to the 16th century when it was established as one of Norway's important centers for shipping, shipbuilding, mining, timber and iron trade. Arendal was recognized as a major shipping center with many wealthy ship owners who contributed to the city's architectural appearance. Arendal is famous for its small white houses with small picket fences close to the sea. This together with Arendal's beautiful archipelago has made Arendal one of Norway's most attractive places to spend leisure time and houses many cottages.

Today Arendal is a city with approximately 50000 inhabitants. Its center for many cultural festivals during the summer period and can offer leisure activities like windsurfing, sailing, kayaking. Agder municipality can offer a wide range of winter sport activities with great mountains for trekking, cross-country or downhill skiing in the winter.
